1. What is the eligibility to Study MBBS in China?

Ans: To study in China you have to meet the MCI eligibility which is 50% in Physics, Chemistry and Biology average and pass in English in Class 12 and minimum 17 years of age in December 31 of the year of Admission. In ADDITION the University in China may have a HIGER cut off than specified by MCI. So read the requirement of the University in addition to the MCI requirement.

2. What are the MCI rules?

Ans: Medical Council of India regulates medical registration and education in India. IF you want to go overseas for MBBS – you have to:

- a. File for an eligibility certificate with the MCI BEFORE you go for MBBS overseas.
- b. You have to study in a Recognized Institute of the Country granting the Degree.
- c. After you come back to India you have to pass a screening or competency test
- d. And then MCI will allow you to practice in India.

To get Eligibility Certificate

- a. You need to be minimum 17 years of Age as on December 31st in the year of Admission
- b. Have 50% in Physics, Biology and Chemistry in class 12 with pass in each subject individually (40% for SC/ ST/OBC) and Pass in English in class 12 board examination
- c. Have passed class 11 with Physics, Chemistry, Biology and English
- d. Your class 12th should be from a recognized Board in India.

You have to file for the Eligibility Certificate in prescribed format & fees with MCI Office in New Delhi. Usually student or parent has to go personally to file in the MCI with original which are checked against photo copies and returned. Photocopies and forms and fees are filed with the MCI.

If you meet the requirements then MCI issues the Eligibility certificate in a few months and this is mailed to your address given in the form as a matter of course.

3. What is the MCI Screening Test? How many times can I give Screening Test?

Ans: After you finish MBBS overseas & come back to India – you have to give a competency test popularly known as the MCI Screening Test. The official name is FMGE or Foreign Medical Graduate Examination conducted by the National Board of Examination or NBE.

The MCI does not conduct the test.

If you fail the test then there is NO LIMIT on the number of attempts in the MCI test.

If you have studied in your college then you will pass the MCI test.
